

REVEREND MILLIE LANDIS
WEDNESDAY NIGHT SPIRITUAL FORUM
HEALER'S AGREEMENT

The Wednesday Night Forum is now part of the Fraternal Spiritualist Church (FSC). To insure compliance with all federal and state laws, and to keep our spiritual healing pristine, all Healers who participate in Wednesday Night Forum Healing must adhere to certain guidelines and understand the various responsibilities of engaging in spiritual healing.

In accordance with FSC teaching, God heals through the healer. The healer need only let God's love and healing energy flow through him/her to the person on the healing stool.

We all teach by example and every healer is representing the FSC. Therefore, when serving as a Spiritual Healer at Wednesday Night Forum, the following items apply:

1. Be mindful that your actions are representing the Church and that you are subject to the perceptions of the congregation. It is important to display respectful behavior toward all persons, this includes between and among fellow healers.
2. A healer's attire, expressions, statements and mannerisms are subject to the perceptions of others in attendance. For purposes of healing at FSC, spiritual healing does not embrace flamboyant or dramatic displays of healing styles. Despite the fact that the Forum is less formal than a Sunday Church gathering, it is still a spiritual gathering. Therefore, a more reverent healing style is appropriate.
3. Healers should avoid colognes and perfumes, as they might be offensive to those who sit on the stools.
4. If a person insists on telling you their specific healing needs (either before, during or after sitting on a healing stool), it is best to simply acknowledge and accept their statement, then offer a limited response that clearly acknowledges trust in God "knowing" as to their area of need.
5. Only positive discussions and actions should be displayed by healers since they are representing FSC. If a non-positive comment is made about the FSC or the Forum or about someone attending the Forum or the FSC, the healer should not comment, except to suggest that he/she submit it in writing to the FSC Board of Directors.
6. When Forum attendees are in need, or are on healing stools, they are in a vulnerable state. It is therefore never appropriate to give a spiritual reading or message during a healing.
7. Regardless of any medical background, it is inappropriate and illegal for a spiritual healer to suggest remedies (holistic or otherwise), prescribe medications or provide medical opinions or diagnostics.
8. A spiritual healer recognizes he/she is an instrument for God's healing energy. It is therefore appropriate for a healer to give honor to God when responding to a "thank you" from a healing recipient.

9. Above all, a healer must maintain reverence. Every healing must start with a prayer and end with a prayer. The prayers would generally include an acknowledgement that the healer is merely an instrument for channeling God's healing energy. Prayers should be kept simple and reverent. It is never appropriate for a healer to verbalize or pray for what he/she thinks or feels might be the individual's areas of need. Rather, the prayers should ask that Spirit guide the healing to the "areas of need."

10. Touching of any kind during the healing is always inappropriate and places the FSC in a position of liability. The only exception is the holding of hands, with permission, during the opening and closing prayer.

11. If a person offers a hug to the healer after the session, the healer should be mindful of bodily contact. The embrace should be brief, simple and respectful.

12. If you have made a commitment to serve as a healer, please honor that commitment. Please arrive early enough to put on your robe and be ready to say the Healers' prayer with Rev. Millie.

13. Be ready and willing to serve as a healer when noticing a shortage of healers.

14. Be willing to work as a team with other Forum healers to set up and put away healing supplies.

15. Once the healing service has begun, it is important that healers remain within the healing area. Please avoid distracting or loud behaviors, such as wearing noisy jewelry.

16. Be conscious of time constraints. Wednesday night spiritual healing is meant to be relatively short so as to be able to accommodate all who might wish to sit on the stools. Longer, more personalized healings, can at the request of the individual be arranged. However, in order to avoid potential liability, at least two healers must be present at all times.

17. When a healer has an empty stool, silent prayers can be offered for those in need.

I, _____, have read and understand the above rules and regulations regarding Spiritual Healing at the Wednesday Night Forum, which is part of the Fraternal Spiritualist Church. I agree to comply with all that is both stated and implied when serving as a Healer at this Church.
